How do I declare the Cog Sci major?

Please visit the Undergraduate tab of our program web page, https://cogsci.cas.lehigh.edu/

On the right hand side, there is a column of links. Around the middle of the column, there is a link called Major Declaration Form. This will take you to a Docusign document to complete.

You will need to indicate whether you are declaring the B.A. or B.S. If you're not sure which to choose, please read the separate FAQ item on choosing between them.

What happens after I fill out the form?

A Google doc of your program requirements will be created for you that will be shared with you and your adviser. You should schedule a meeting with your adviser or program staff member (whichever you are instructed to do) to review the requirements and enter the courses completed so far.

How do I know what to take as I progress through the program? What do I do if I have questions?

You can look at your Google doc and check on what you still need to take at any time. You can also email your adviser at any time. However, be aware that each semester a week or two before class registration for the next semester begins, you will be contacted to schedule an advising appointment. You will need to attend your appointment to get your registration PIN and review your course selections, and you can ask any questions at that time.
